The Alumni News

O. R. CARRINGTON, '28 Editor

Maryland Alumni News, issued monthly by the University of Maryland Alumni Association at College Park, Md., as second-class matter under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879. Annual Alumni Association dues are $2.00 per year.

Lt. Jim Meade, '39 Is Subject Of Sportswriter's Column

The following article, written by the Washington Times-Herald sports writer, Vincent X. Flaherty, contains some interesting news about one of Maryland's brightest football stars, "Jarring" Jim Meade, who made football history at College Park back in the "thirties."

Flaherty's article runs as follows: "One of our favorite athletes — should say, former athletes — writes from the Southwest Pacific, where he has spent the past 18 months. Remember Jim Meade, former University of Maryland fullback and later a member of the Redskins?

Commands Paratroopers

"Jim is a lieutenant in command of a detachment of Army Paratroopers. He writes by 'V-Mail,' the letter dated November 18, and in view of the fact it's just getting here now, Jim must be a far piece away.

"My wife," writes Meade, "has just sent me a clipping of your column of September 18 saying I was in London. I only wish I were there where it is nice and cool. Instead, I am in a jungle on an island in the Southwest Pacific. Damned hot island, too.

"I've been overseas 17 months, Vinnie, and I don't know what's going on back home. Will you do me a favor and give me all the dope about the boys? I was in the parachute attack on Lae in the Markham Valley in New Guinea in September and came out of it okay. I've been in the paratroopers two years now and I like my work a lot. But I still like football better.

Captain Ralph C. Fisher, '35 Sees Action At Mt. Porchia

Captain Ralph C. Fisher, '35, was one of those who led the American forces when they stormed Mount Porchia in the recent four-day Italian battle, according to a recent report from Allied Headquarters in Algiers. Captain Fisher also participated in the North African invasion and the entire Tunisian campaign.

Fisher is a native of Birmingham, Ala., and came to Hyattsville, Md., in 1923 where he attended the local schools before entering the University of Maryland in 1931. He was a student in the College of Agriculture and served as a Lieutenant in the R.O.T.C. Later he was a member of Company F of the Maryland National Guard.

He was taking a post-graduate course at the University and working in the bindery division of the Government Printing Office when he was called to active duty as First Lieutenant in 1940. He was promoted to Captain in March, 1942.

Pratt Library of Baltimore Praises Maryland Graduates

Miss Lucille Dudgeon, director of the Library Training Class at Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore, recently asked the Alumni Association if it would not bring the opportunities offered by the Pratt Library Training Course to the attention of Maryland alumni. Her letter is so flattering to two Maryland graduates that we are reprinting it verbatim.

"Dear Mr. Carrington:

"Miss Mildred Donohue, '38, and Miss Ruth Koenig, '40, are on the staff of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore. We thought that you would like to know of the work that these young women are doing. Also, our contacts with Miss Donohue and Miss Koenig have been such that we are anxious to call the library profession to the attention of University of Maryland graduates.

On Leave At Columbia

"Miss Donohue is now on leave from the library and is studying at the Columbia University School of Library Service, where she will receive a Bachelor of Science Degree in Library Service in June, 1944. Due to her training and experience at the Pratt Library, she secured part-time employment in the library of the Nurses' Home at St. Luke's Hospital, near the Columbia campus.

"Miss Koenig also is a librarian at Enoch Pratt, where she is a Children's Librarian at Branch 6.

Alumni Join Local Chapter Of Sigma Chi Fraternity

At the recent initiation of Sigma Chi Fraternity at the University of Maryland, nine former members of Delta Chapter of Sigma Phi Sigma, which became Gamma Chi Chapter of Sigma Chi two years ago, were taken into membership. The initiation was conducted at the Epsilon Chapter house of George Washington University.

Maryland alumni who joined Sigma Chi were John Carman Sterling, '16, Superintendent of the Machine Shop Division at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Newport News, Va.; Lieutenant Colonel Geary Eppley, '20, former Dean of Men at the University of Maryland and now with the Headquarters, Army Ground Forces, Washington, D. C.; Ransom R. Lewis, Jr., '19, who is running a large dairy farm near Frederick, Md.; Augustus W. Hines, '22, Vice-President and Treasurer of the Prescott Construction Company, Washington, D. C.; Lester W. Bosley, '23, construction engineer for the Public Building Administration, Washington, D. C.; Paul D. Lewis, '23, Smoot Sand Company, Washington, D. C.; George W. Hough, '26, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C.; Edward Allen Shepherd, '29, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C.; and Lieutenant Colonel Alfred F. Weirich, '29, Office of the Inspector General, U. S. Army.

Mary Hess, '43, Is First Woman Sworn Into Florida Marines

Mary Morris Ellicott Hess, '43, was the first woman to be sworn into the Marines in the State of Florida. Her father, Captain W. M. E. Hess, U.S.M.C., commanding officer of a Marine detachment, administered the oath at Marine recruiting headquarters in Miami on November 5, 1943. She also has brothers in the Marine Corps and Naval Reserve Air Corps.

Miss Hess, besides following the example of her military family, asserts that she is becoming a Marine because, like many other patriotic women, "I feel it is the best way to serve my country."

Before she leaves for training Mary hopes to complete the requirements for her private pilot's license. She formerly held a position at Pan American Airways, and in

The Maryland-Marine basketball game on December 11 was an exciting fracas even though the Old Lincrs lost, 59-33. The cover picture shows Dick Tuschak, Maryland guard, hugging the ball in a scramble near the basket.

Colonel Lloyd A. Kefauver, '06, Gets New Post at Fort Sill

Colonel Lloyd A. Kefauver, '06, was recently appointed the new Post Surgeon and Commanding Officer of the United States Army Station Hospital at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Veteran In Medical Corps

A veteran of 33 years' service in the Medical Corps, Colonel Kefauver went to Fort Sill from England General Hospital, Atlantic City, N. J., where he was commanding officer. He is a native of Frederick, Md., and a graduate of the old Baltimore Medical College which was later absorbed by the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

During the first year of mobilization Colonel Kefauver served as surgeon of the 7th Army Corps. He then was Post Surgeon at Fort Knox, Ky., for 18 months before beginning his four-month tour of duty at England Hospital.

Colonel Kefauver served in the Philippine Islands from 1912 to 1916 and during World War I was commanding officer of the Station Hospital at Fort Meade. He also served with hospital units overseas.

Son Commands Submarine

Colonel Kefauver has a son, Lieutenant Commander Russell Kefauver, a 1933 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, who commands a submarine in the Pacific area. He also has two daughters, one of whom is married to Lieutenant Colonel Glenn Cole, commanding officer of a Tank Destroyer Battalion at Camp Maxey, Texas.

Colonel Kefauver's wife, Christine R. Kefauver, is an attorney and at present is in New York City, where she is assistant counsel with the Public Health Department.

Dr. E. G. Ballanger Elected President of Medical Group

Dr. Edgar C. Ballanger, '01, was recently chosen President-Elect of the Southern Medical Association, the second largest medical organization in the United States. Dr. Ballanger, who is a prominent Atlanta urologist, was named President-Elect at the annual meeting of the Association in Cincinnati. He will take office as President early this year.

Dr. Ballanger is a native of Tyrone, North Carolina. Upon completing his medical training at the University School of Medicine in 1901, he served his internship in the University Hospital and entered the practice of medicine in Atlanta in 1902, specializing in urology.

DEAN J. FREEMAN PYLE

Dr. Pyle Made Acting Dean Of Arts and Science College

For the period of the emergency following the sudden death of Dean Broughton in December, Dean J. Freeman Pyle, of the College of Business and Public Administration, has been named Acting Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences by President Byrd. Dr. Pyle will continue as Dean of the College of Business and Public Administration but has moved his office to the Arts and Science Building to better supervise the work in that College.

Dean Pyle is a newcomer to the Maryland campus, having taken over the responsibilities of Dean of the College of Business and Public Administration in the summer of 1942. He came to the College Park campus from Marquette University where he had served as Dean of the Robert A. Johnston College of Business and Public Administration and head of the Department of Economics for seven years.

Graduate Of Chicago U.

The new Dean is a native of Indiana and a graduate of the University of Chicago where he obtained his Ph.B. degree in 1917, his M.A. in 1918 and his Ph.D. in 1925. Incidentally, both Mrs. Pyle and the Dean's son, John, are graduates of the University of Chicago. The latter is now serving as an ensign on a destroyer "somewhere" in the Pacific.

At one time Dean Pyle was Professor of Political Science and Economics at the State Teachers College at Kirksville, Mo., and while he was working on his doctorate he held the position of teaching assistant and instructor in the School of Commerce and Administration at the University of Chicago. Prior to his appointment at Marquette Dr. Pyle was lecturer in the School of Commerce at Northwestern University, from 1923 to 1925.

Lt. Gerald E. Prentice, '42, Commended By King College

Lieutenant Gerald E. Prentice, '42, former editor of the Terrapin and President of his senior class, made such an outstanding record as commanding officer of the 332nd College Training Detachment at King College in Bristol, Tenn., that the Dean of Instruction in Army Program at the College wrote a letter of appreciation of Jerry's services to W. B. Cobey, Secretary of the University of Maryland Alumni Association. The Dean's letter is as follows:

"My Dear Cobey:

"This small college of 250, located in the mountains of East Tennessee, wishes to acknowledge a debt of gratitude to the University of Maryland, for the sterling qualities of character, leadership, administrative ability and initiative shown by First Lieutenant Gerald E. Prentice, U. of M., '42, as commanding officer of the 332nd College Training Detachment, Army Air Forces, located at this College.

"The interest, untiring effort, and dignity with which he performed his duties, during the days of organization and installation of a program entirely new to us,

Pratt Library At Baltimore

"Both Miss Donohue and Miss Koenig graduated in 1941 from the Pratt Library Training Class, which offers a library training program, combining classroom study and practical work, and emphasizing preparation for work in the Pratt system. Students are paid fifty dollars a month during the training period and are assured a position in the system upon satisfactory completion of the course.

Class Is Accelerated

"As a result of the war, the class has been accelerated, and it is now possible to complete the course in six months. The second accelerated program will begin on February 14 and the examination will be held on January 22 for those applicants who, through interview, have shown that they have the qualifications for public library work.

"These two University of Maryland graduates have so proved their worth that the Enoch Pratt Free Library announces it will welcome the application of other University of Maryland people. Information about the Training Class may be obtained from the Director of the Training Class, Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, 1, Maryland. . . .

Very truly yours,

Lucille Dudgeon,

Director of Training Class."

DEATHS

1895

COHEN — Dr. Lee Cohen, a graduate of the School of Medicine and one of the pioneers in the field of plastic surgery, passed away on December 31 at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, following a lengthy illness.

Dr. Cohen was the author of many scientific papers on the subject of plastic surgery and frequently was invited to lecture on the subject and to give post-graduate courses.

He was attending surgeon at the Sinai Hospital and the Baltimore Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital. Prior to his medical studies at the University of Maryland he had taken his premedical work at the University of North Carolina. During the last war he was in charge of Oral Plastic Surgery at the General Army Hospital at Cape May, N. J.

CHAPMAN — James W. Chapman, Jr., who for more than 34 years was Secretary of the Maryland State Bar Association, passed away recently at his home in Baltimore.

Mr. Chapman was born in Chestertown, Md., August 6, 1871. He was a graduate of Washington College and later obtained a Doctor of Philosophy Degree from Johns Hopkins University and LL.D. from the University of Maryland Law School in 1901.

Elected Secretary of the State Bar Association in 1908, Mr. Chapman continued to take a leading part in the activities of that organization until his death. He served continuously as secretary except in 1930, when he was president for one term.

He was appointed to the Board of School Commissioners of Baltimore City in 1915 by former Mayor James H. Preston, and in 1916 was made president of the Board and served in that capacity for a number of years.

In 1935, Mr. Chapman was named United States Commissioner for Baltimore and in the same year was awarded a gold trophy by Washington College as the alumnus who had done most for the success of the College in the preceding year.

Mr. Chapman was a member of the North Baltimore Methodist Church, the Hopkins Club, the University Club, Concordia Lodge, and Masons.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Edward T. Gieske, of Baltimore, he is survived by a son, Lieutenant S. Vannort Chapman, of the United States Coast Guard, and two grandchildren, Edward T. Gieske, Jr., and James Chapman Gieske. His wife, Claire Vannort Chapman, passed away in 1936.

HURST — Dr. Orville C. Hurst, of Baltimore, was recently struck and killed by an automobile in that city. Dr. Hurst was a native of Clarksville, West Virginia, and had practiced dentistry in the Medical Arts Building in Baltimore since graduation from the Maryland Dental School. He was assistant professor in the Department of Crown and Bridge in the University of Maryland Dental School for 18 years, resigning a year ago. Dr. Hurst was member of the American Dental Association, Maryland Dental Association, Baltimore Dental Society, and Omicron Kappa Upsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa and Psi Omega fraternities.

LICHLITER — Captain Lawrence D. Lichliter, U. S. Army Air Corps, was reported by the War Department to have been killed while on a mission over Sicily on July 10. First reported missing in action, a recent letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Lichliter, of Washington, D. C., after the Sicilian invasion, revealed that his grave had been found.

Captain Lichliter graduated from Eastern High School before entering the University. He was a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He took CAA training at Maryland and enlisted in the Air Forces in September, 1941. Overseas since November, 1942, he was promoted to the rank of Captain while serving with troop carrier in the Middle East.

The Maryland Dean is a member of the American Economics Association, The American Management Association, The American Marketing Association; the executive committee of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business and is one of the representatives of the Association on the American Counsel in Education; is a past president of the Executive Club of Milwaukee, and was chairman of the research committee and a member of the industries committee of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce. Recently Governor O'Connor appointed him consultant for the Maryland Commission on Post War Development and Reconstruction.

Author Of Two Textbooks

He is the author of two widely used textbooks on marketing: "Marketing Principles", published in 1931 and revised in 1936; and "Marketing Management" which appeared in 1942. In addition, Dr. Pyle has written numerous articles for such publications as the Harvard Business Review, Political Economy, and the American Economics Review.

Old Line Athletic Contributions

Old Line Boxing Team Lacks Experienced Fighters

As press time for the ALUMNI NEWS approached, the University of Maryland boxing team was still an unknown quantity and needed a test to prove its worth.

Three With Experience

Coach Fausto Rubini has the task of developing some sixteen inexperienced boys, most of whom are still in their freshman year. Martin Rude, Alex Bobenko, and Benson Schwartz are the only ringmen on hand with previous college experience. Bobenko is the veteran of the lot with almost a full year of boxing behind him.

The intervening Christmas holidays didn't help Rubini's training schedule for the opening tussle with Army at College Park on January 15. The Maryland ringmen started training late and have hardly had time to get ready for the well-trained and older Army pugilists.

"I think the boys are tops physically,"

Basketball Team Faces Experienced Opposition

Lest some Maryland alumni may be wondering at the unimpressive showing made thus far by the basketball team it should be pointed out that the Old Liners are meeting some of the strongest teams in the country, all but three of which on the schedule have V-12 and marine reinforcements to bolster their line-ups.

Few All-Civilian Schools

As Maryland is one of the few all-civilian schools, as far as sports go, little hope for a bright and optimistic future is in view. There is no doubt that this year's young team could stack up fairly well with most of the current opponents in pre-war days. The Old Liners bore out this point when they put up a scrappy fight against the civilian Marshall College quintet, only to come out on the short end of a tight 46-39 decision that wasn't decided until the last 45 seconds of play.

"We were under the impression Meade was in London because he sent us a postcard some months ago bearing a picture of the Bank of England. Meade was in several engagements prior to the attack on Lae."

Coach Burton Shipley Suffers Fractures of Both Legs

Troubles mounted for the University of Maryland basketball team when Burton Shipley, veteran coach for 21 years, fractured both of his legs in an accident at his home near College Park on January 9.

The accident occurred when he was thrown from a pony cart against a gate post. "Ship" had purchased a new pony for his young daughter, Josephine, and it ran away with him as he was testing it out after the animal had proved a little too frisky for the young girl.

The cage mentor will be out of action for about a month. Al Heagy, assistant in football and varsity lacrosse coach, will take over court duties in his absence. Heagy is a graduate of Maryland and played under Shipley while a student at College Park.

Former Maryland Professor At University of Algiers

Captain Carl D. Clarke, former professor of medical art at the University of Maryland School of Medicine, is working in a laboratory at the University of Algiers, where he and a technical staff are busy making artificial noses, ears, jaws, hands, and arms, for soldiers at the front. Captain Clarke calls his new art "protheses" and says that it will enable many maimed soldiers to hide their disfiguration and live normal lives.

Mary is from Point Pleasant, N. J., where she attended school after spending three years with her parents in France and Switzerland. She graduated from the College of Education last February. She was a member of the Defense Council, the May Day Committee, Language and International Relations Clubs and Kappa Delta Sorority. Following graduation, she taught English in Easton, Md., and did Red Cross work.

Old Line sports fans and alumni will be glad to see a picture of Fausto Rubini, Maryland's new coach of boxing. Rubini is from the University of Wisconsin, where he was welter-weight champion for several seasons. Rubini is also a football coach and while he was football coach at Lancaster High School, in Wisconsin, he developed Dave Schriener and Mark Hopkins, who became All-American end and halfback, respectively, at Wisconsin last year.

but they haven't had an opportunity to iron out some rough points," Rubini said. "This match with Army will probably be no more than a test for us to determine just what we have."

Maryland has the only collegiate sports program in the State of Maryland or the Washington area.

Need Bobenko

Rubini will be counting heavily on the 155-pound Bobenko, only carry-over from last year who has had real experience. A good deal of service is also expected of Bill Coakley who showed up very well in the All-University Boxing tournament in December. He scored the only knockout of the matches in his final win. Vic Berman, an incoming freshman, is full of promise and should handle some heavy duty in the 145-pound class before the end of the season. Little Ed Gauvin, who punches his way through the 120-pound division, is an almost sure-fire bet to hold down the flyweight berth on the team. The seventeen-year-old freshman displayed plenty of finesse in scoring both of his lop-sided wins in the tournament.

When Rubini looks ahead, he gets an even bigger headache what with service reinforced teams like North Carolina, Virginia, and Wisconsin listed on the season's roster. The United States Coast Guard of New London, Connecticut, is slated for the finale of one of Maryland's toughest ring schedules.

Basketball Team Faces

Quantico Marines that ended 59-33 was an example of service versus civilian teams. Bambridge Navy, one of the best service fives in the country, followed suit with a 55-21 dribbling for the third unsuccessful home stand. The Terps took to the road for the first time on January 8, and Virginia made the Liners sorry they took the trip by pounding out a win to the tune of a 52-20 score. At this writing, the team is in preparation for V. M. I., the only civilian team left on the schedule.

Heagy Takes Over

Al Heagy, who is taking over the basketball coaching portfolio in the absence of veteran Burton Shipley, is finding it hard with his new recruits. The varsity lacrosse coach, incognito, is thanking his lucky stars for such reliable scoring performers as high-scorer Jack Flynn, Joe Acito, and Ermy Englebert.

New Literary Magazine Appears On Maryland Campus

The first issue of a Literary Quarterly Magazine made its appearance on the Maryland campus early in January. The publication is sponsored by the English Department and is under the immediate supervision of Norman MacLeod, Assistant Professor of English.

The first volume was dedicated to the memory of Dr. Levin B. Broughton, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, who passed away suddenly in December. The publication was started "as an expression of Maryland's creative writing" and the first issue contained contributions by prominent American and foreign writers in addition to those from members of the students and faculty of the University. The first issue was edited by Jane Woodring, of Chevy Chase, Md., who was assisted by Associate Editors Art O'Keefe, of Oyster Bay, N. Y.; Pauline Howland, of Laurel, Md.; and Katherine Farquhar, of Rockville, Md.

the Jewels

A WOMAN GIVES A MAN

MORE planes might be named Diamond Lil if pilots and crews knew what this woman knows—that bombers wear jewels!

This woman is one of a little group of war workers whose job is producing synthetic jewels for electric aircraft instruments. The jewels are tiny bearings for moving parts which must be as accurate, and are almost as small, as the parts of a fine watch. They are made from glass by a secret process at a mass production rate, but each jewel must pass an inspection as exacting as a jeweler's appraisal of a precious stone. These jewels, which women are giving men to fly by, are given in painstaking devotion to precision—in manufacture and inspection.

The development of these jewels is an example of the application of General Electric research and engineering to small things, as well as large. Before the war, and before G-E scientists developed a special process for making these jewels synthetically from glass, we used sapphires for these bearings—importing many of them. Think what it would mean, with America's thousands of planes requiring millions of instruments, if we were still dependent upon a foreign source!

Small things perhaps, these jewels a woman gives a man—but in war, as in love, there are no little things. General Electric Company, Schenectady, New York.

Hear the General Electric radio programs: "The G-E All-girl Orchestra" Sunday 10 p.m. EWT, NBC—"The World Today" news, every weekday 6:45 p.m. EWT, CBS.

This magnified glass jewel, one of several types, is actually smaller than a pin head. As one of the largest makers of aircraft instruments, and as a supplier of jewels to other instrument makers, General Electric is unofficial jeweler to many American planes.

Randolph G. Bishop, '20, Active as Civic Leader

Randolph G. Bishop, '20, Editor of Dental Health and Executive Secretary of the National Dental Hygiene Association, which has developed a national dental health program for adequate care of children's teeth, has been at the helm of a number of civic and welfare campaigns in the nation's capital.

Bishop now serves as the director for the metropolitan area campaign for the District of Columbia Chapter of the American Red Cross and for several years he was campaign director for the Community Chest of the District.

He says that he finds a lot of satisfaction in his work because he deals with real people — those who give their time and efforts for others.

Retired Last Fall

Two members of the University of Maryland Extension Service, who are well known to many Maryland alumni, were retired this past fall after reaching the retirement age of 70 years.

These men were E. G. (Daddy) Jenkins, popular State 4-H Club Leader for the last 24 years, and John (Uncle Jerry) Conover, who had served the Extension Service for 22 years and was equally popular with young people throughout the State.

The position of State 4-H Club Leader is now being carried on by Mylo S. Downey, '26, who served as Mr. Jenkins' assistant for a number of years.

Arranged by the Washington Alumnae Chapter of SAE, the dinner will be attended by members of the active chapters of George Washington University and Maryland University.

Trial of Maryland Dentist Under Fire Described By Marine Correspondent

Those of us who may feel some hesitancy about entering our favorite dentist's office may get a measure of comfort out of the following article which involves Lieutenant Ronald Lawrence, '41, a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Dentistry, and Technical Sergeant Daniel Campbell, of Pittsburgh, a Marine Corps correspondent. The article was written by Sergeant Campbell and was sent from Bougainville.

"The drill was biting deep into my crumbling molars when the sirens began to wail and I looked up expectantly at the Naval dentist, glad for a respite.

Major F. T. Bishopp, '39, Tells of Pacific Activities

Softball indulged in too strenuously can make an arm sore — especially if it is an arm that has received a flesh wound. That fact Major Fred T. Bishopp, '39, of the USMC admitted recently in a letter to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Bishopp of Silver Spring, Md. They still have not heard directly from Major Bishopp about the shoulder wound that he received when he landed at Guadalcanal, but the news came to them from a friend.

Softball is not the only activity which thrives in the South Pacific theater where Major Bishopp is located as executive officer of his outfit. He mentions at least one other, the Pearl Harbor Bond Drive, which he says went over almost one hundred percent among the men.

Bishopp's letter reads in part: "Several days ago we concluded the drive, and it was an outstanding success — especially our battalion. We led the regiment with a total purchase of $34,700. I don't remember the figure for the entire outfit.

"... The old man is still doing all right in the softball league. Our officers' team is leading now, with 9 victories in 10 games. A couple of weeks ago I developed a sore arm, due to the strain of throwing before it was in shape, and was retired to left field for a couple of days but am now back at short-stop playing my usual 'stellar' base.

"The marines enjoyed a fine turkey dinner on the corps' birthday. On Thanksgiving Day itself they ate a beef and canned chicken repast with potatoes, dressing, orange and fresh pineapple salad, hot rolls and cake.

Lieutenant Mason Chronister, former crack miler at the University, whose death in a Japanese prison camp has just been reported by the War Department.

Lieutenant Mason Chronister, '41, Star Miler, Died December 15 In Japanese Prison Camp

First Lieutenant Mason Chronister, '41, Marine Corps, star miler of Maryland's track team until his graduation three years ago, died last December 15, after a year and a half in a Japanese prison camp, according to word received recently by his mother, Mrs. Anna Chronister, of Baltimore.

A telegram from Lieutenant General A. A. Vandergift, Marine Corps commandant, dated January 21, brought the first news of Mason's death and a subsequent letter stated that he had died in a Japanese prison camp. The reasons for his death were not disclosed.

First Reported Missing

Mason was reported missing in action on May 11, 1942, following the capitulation of Manila. A Navy Department telegram stated he had been serving in the "Manila Bay Area" and in the absence of other information, he was listed as "missing".

On May 28, 1942, an announcement from Washington said he was one of the 33 Marine officers either known or presumed to be prisoners of the Japanese.

Mason's last letter was received by his mother on February 5, 1942. "We're looking for the people who started this fire," his letter was quoted, "and we're going to get them."

In 1938, while a student at Maryland, Chronister ran a close third against Glenn Cunningham and Archie San Romani, considered the greatest milers of recent years, in the Governor's Mile at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

Outstanding Track Star

In one of our more memorable track meets, Chronister took the stick in the last lap of a four-mile relay and stretched a short Maryland lead to a hundred yards. The remarkable run gave the Terps victory over highly favored NYU and Indiana.

After spending four successful years at Maryland, Mason ended his college track career by running as anchor man on Maryland's crack distance relay team, which ran a mile in 4.15 and succeeded in taking the Southern Conference competition.

Chronister was an advanced ROTC student while at Maryland and upon graduation he immediately enlisted for training at the Marine Basic Training School at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. In February, 1941, he was graduated and commissioned as second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Within a few months he was in Shanghai, and from there an Army transport took him to Manila just four days before Pearl Harbor.

Old Line Athletic Contributions

Old Line Boxing Team Turns In Outstanding Performance

Through sheer brilliance of performance, Maryland's "unknown" boxing team of a few weeks ago has become one of the outstanding and most talked-about collegiate teams in the country. At this writing the Marylanders have three wins and one defeat to their credit. The victories include two wins over Army and one over Penn State, all formidable foes and much credit goes to Coach Rubini for the well-balanced and hard-hitting team which he has developed.

Army Match Surprises

The initial match with the Army Cadets from West Point provided a series of surprises for Old Line followers. Not only did Maryland win the match by 4½ to 3½, but Rubini discovered that he had three exceptionally flashy performers in 135-pound Ray Hanbury, 145-pound Vic Berman, and heavy-weight Danny Marowitz.

Maryland's first trip away also brought her first defeat and in a closely fought contest at the University of North Carolina the Old Liners lost, 6-2. Berman was the only Old Liner to win his fight, but many of the decisions were close.

After this the Old Line training room resounded to the staccato of punching bags and the smack of leather as the team prepared for the encounter with a strong Penn State team on February 5. The extra work brought excellent results as the Lions were downed 6-2. Marowitz scored the quickest win of the evening by knocking his opponent groggy in 35 seconds of the first round.

To Meet Wisconsin

As this is being written the Old Liners are returning from West Point where they decisively defeated Army for the second time by the score of 6-2. Following a two weeks' rest the team will travel to Madi-

All Varsity Spring Sports Dropped By Old Liners

After taking an inventory of the material on hand officials of the University have decided to drop all spring varsity sports. This move was decided upon because of lack of civilian students and the difficulties of lining up schedules.

Maryland will feel most the loss of lacrosse, in which it has been outstanding since the sport was first established on the College Park campus in 1910. This will make the second time that lacrosse has been interrupted at Maryland, as the Old Liners were forced to drop it from 1917 to 1920.

Maryland won the national championship in lacrosse in 1936, 1939, 1940 and were co-holders with Princeton in 1937. They were also runners-up in 1938 and

Maryland's Basketball Team Has In-And-Out Season

Maryland's basketball team closed its home season of nine games with an appropriate 48-26 win over Woodrow Wilson General Hospital of Staunton, Va. Since the last issue of the Alumni News went to press the Old Liners have won three out of seven games for the best record to date. In fact, this trio of wins, all of which were gained in Ritchie Coliseum, are the only ones Maryland could claim at this writing.

V. M. I. Is Beaten

The Old Liners started the ball rolling with a nice 43-36 triumph over a young Virginia Military Institute quintet. Al Heagy's boys looked better in that game than they had looked all season. The Old Liners benefited by fast plays, breaks and rebounds against the Keydets.

Following this victory the Old Liners prepared confidently for Hampden-Sydney, but found the Virginians were equally confident and well prepared and Maryland lost by the rather close score of 51-43. Following this defeat, the Old Liners lost in two lopsided scores, 78-25 to Bainbridge Naval Training Base and 60-22 to Fort Belvoir.

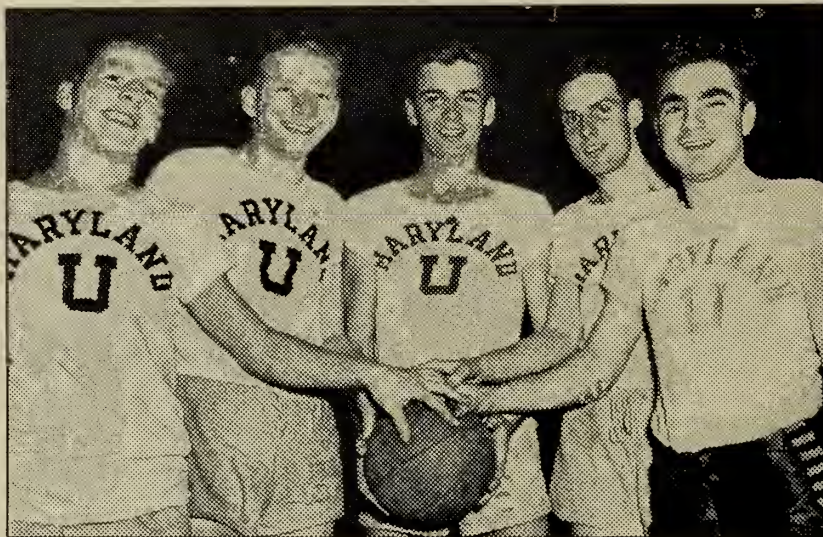

Smarting from these defeats the Old Liners grimly set to work to prepare for a highly-favored Catholic University team which had been enjoying a successful season. When the dust had settled down on one of the best games ever played in Ritchie Coliseum the scoreboard showed Maryland 33, Catholic University 31, which did much to encourage the team.

Virginia Is Strong

A strong University of Virginia team that was studded with V-12 members, proved too strong for Maryland in the next encounter. Earlier in the season the Old Liners had lost at Charlottesville, 52-20, and the Virginians repeated in the second TELLER — Private Leslie Wayne Teller, Jr., '42, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Teller, of Chevy Chase, Md., was married last November to Miriam Ruth Dozier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Dozier, of South Arlington, Va.

The ceremony took place at Calvary Methodist Church in Arlington, the Rev. Thomas G. Betchler officiating. The bride is a graduate of Washington-Lee High School in Arlington County, Va.

LADD — Louise Bendette Ladd, '42, daughter of Colonel Shaler Ladd, USMC, and Mrs. Ladd, of Chevy Chase, Md., was married last October to Lieutenant (j.g.) Henry Dallas Linscott, Jr., son of Colonel Linscott, USMC, and Mrs. Linscott, of Alexandria, Va.

The wedding took place in the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. After the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Lieutenant and Mrs. Linscott left for a wedding trip, before going to Boston, where the groom is stationed.

The bride is a graduate of the College of Home Economics and is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority and Omicron Nu, Home Economics Honorary. Lieutenant Linscott is a graduate of the University of Missouri and is a member of Kappa Tau Alpha and Sigma Chi Fraternities.

Trials of Maryland Dentist Under

"When it was comparatively quiet again, I crawled out of the foxhole, and into the chair again and Lieutenant Lawrence, who administers to the dental needs of the Marines here, resumed his drilling. The raid was only an incident in the day's work, in this, probably the nearest dental office to any front line.

"To call it an 'office' is to give it a dignity that it doesn't properly merit. Actually it is a storage tent which looks up through the jungle to the active volcano of Mount Bagama. From the hills comes the sound of frequent explosions as Marine artillery pumps shells into the Jap lines, and patrols move forward with the crack of machine gun fire.

Nothing Fancy

"There were none of the chrome fittings that may or may not ease the pain in a modern dental establishment. You sit stiffly in a dental chair without arms, your heels digging into the loamy soil of the jungle floor. Lieutenant Lawrence sterilizes instruments in water heated by a plumber's blow-torch, and his drill is turned by an ancient model foot engine; nimbly and sometimes too zealously operated by the right foot of James Banks, Navy Hospital Assistant, second class, of East Marion, N. C. The dental equipment folds into two small boxes. But if some of the equipment is reminiscent of dentistry by gas light, the work isn't. Extraction, fractures, fillings, and everything except plates are included in Lieutenant Lawrence's routine.

"The Lieutenant is a graduate of the University of Maryland and the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery. He was resident in oral surgery at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Nose and Throat Hospital in Washington, D. C., when he was commissioned in the Navy. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lawrence, live at Elkton.

Lawrence Moves Around

"The Lieutenant's 'practice' has taken him to a growing list of South Sea Islands, including Samoa, New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, and Bougainville.

"They (bombing and strafing raids) have a very salutary effect on the patients," Lieutenant Lawrence said, but there was a questionable twinkle in his eyes. "When the patient comes back from his foxhole, he is really relaxed and sits limply and meekly in the chair, no longer frightened by anything I do to him."

"I think I know what you mean," I said, "He's been frightened by experts."

Campus Hears Addresses by Dorothy Thompson, William Shirer and Mayor Theodore McKeldon

Members of the ASTP, civilian students and faculty members of the University of Maryland received a real surprise in March when they heard three outstanding addresses given by William L. Shirer, author of "Berlin Diary"; Miss Dorothy Thompson, nationally known columnist; and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldon, of Baltimore, who enjoys a wide reputation for his inspiring talks.

McKeldon Inspires Audiences

In fact, it was because of just such an inspiring address which Mayor McKeldon had delivered before one of the University's graduations in Baltimore recently that President Byrd decided to invite him to come to College Park. As Dr. Byrd pointed out in his introduction: "I felt that no one was better equipped to give us the sort of talk we all need at this time than Mayor McKeldon."

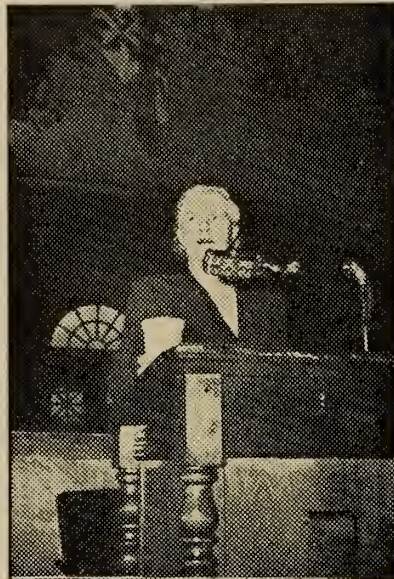

Mr. McKeldon did not disappoint Dr. Byrd nor his audience and gave one of the finest talks that has been heard at the University in many years. The Mayor, who is a graduate of the University of Maryland School of Law, emphasized the importance of character in helping to sustain one through times of trial such as we all now face. He emphasized his points with quotations from Benjamin Franklin, Eddie Cantor, Robert Bruce and Will Rogers which were intermingled with a variety of narratives based on his own travels in Scotland and England.

Gives Plans For Peace

Mr. Shirer who, with Miss Thompson, was brought to the campus under the auspices of the ASTP Language Area Group, propounded eight points for a successful peace, all to be prefaced by "understanding of the German people." These points were: unconditional surrender and occupation of the Reich; military and economic disarmament of Germany; punishment of war criminals; reparations for rebuilding, at least in part, cities devastated by Germany; restoration of loot Germans have stolen; no loans, or cartels to Germans without a United Nations' agreement; re-education of the German people (although the accomplishment of the right kind of peace will do more toward that than a million textbooks and teachers). After Germany has done her share of contributing to the peace, the United Nations must cooperate with her to build a decent standard of living within the country.

Two myths about the German people must be exploded, Shirer stated, before real peace is possible. The first myth is that the majority of the German people are "very nice and are victims of Nazi leadership." The second, that the German people have never been responsible for

A strong federation of European states modeled on the Swiss Constitution was advocated by columnist Dorothy Thompson in an address before 2,500 civilian students, faculty members and soldiers in the ASTP on March 16.

Colonel Robert N. Young, '22, Recommended For Promotion

Included among those who have been recommended by the War Department for promotion to the rank of Brigadier General is Colonel Robert N. Young, '22, a resident of Bethesda, Md. Colonel Young is a son of Lieutenant Colonel Robert H. Young, retired, and Mrs. Young of Washington, D. C.

Colonel Young is a graduate of McKinley High School. At Maryland he participated in football and track, and was a member of Kappa Alpha and Scabbard and Blade fraternities. Following graduation as an honor student, he received an appointment as Second Lieutenant in the U. S. Army in 1923.

After serving three years in Puerto Rico, Colonel Young came back to his Alma Mater as an instructor in the Military Department. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, and also of the Signal School Communication Officers' Course. He became a Lieutenant-Colonel in 1941, and a Colonel in 1942. He is married to the former Miss Cameron Davis of Chevy Chase, D. C., and has two daughters—Corinne, 17, and Caroline, 14.

Dr. Charles B. Hale Dies Following Illness

Dr. Charles Brockway Hale, '46, head of the University of Maryland English Department, passed away at his home last month following a short illness. Death was attributed to pneumonia following a severe cold.

A native of Syracuse and a graduate of Cornell University, where he received his Ph.D. degree in 1924, Dr. Hale was one of the most popular professors on the Maryland campus.

Dr. Hale came to College Park in 1925 as Assistant Professor of English. In 1927 he was made Associate Professor of English and became a full Professor in 1935. He was made head of the English Department at the University in 1938.

Dr. Hale was extremely active in student and faculty affairs and for many years had served as dramatic coach at the University. He was well known in dramatic circles and was a member of Alpha Psi Omega, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity. In addition, he was a member of

Major Schutz, '38, Appointed Aid to New Allied Commander

Major John Logan Schutz, '38, Sigma Nu, and former track star at Maryland, was appointed on January 10, as U. S. Aide to General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, new Allied Commander-in-Chief in the Mediterranean theater, according to a recent letter received by President Byrd.

When General Wilson succeeded General Eisenhower, he requested a U. S. Aide, and Major Schutz was fortunate enough to be selected. General Wilson, the two British aides and Schutz live in a palatial mansion located near headquarters.

Says Schutz, "General Wilson is a grand man, and it is a privilege and pleasure to serve under such an outstanding personality."

Other Maryland boys are doing fine, according to Schutz's letter. Bob Baker, '38, and Ken Scott, '37, Jamie MacWilliams, '38, and Pete Pfeiffer, '37, are helping Logan hold down the fort in the Mediterranean area. All four are wearing General Staff Corps stars. Schutz also saw Captain Larry Hoover, '39, who is still in the newspaper business in the Press Censorship side of Public Relations in Italy.

Dr. Mordaci Ezekiel, '18, Advisor to Claude Wickard

Dr. Mordaci Ezekiel, '18, who is serving as Economic Advisor to Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, recently participated in an interesting post-war planning survey which was conducted in Anderson County, South Carolina, under the direction of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, Va. Dr. Ezekiel addressed a meeting of the Anderson Chamber of Commerce, Post-War Planning Committee, the mayors of all the towns in the county and other interested citizens.

The purpose of the survey, which is the first of its kind in the southeast, will be to determine the potential post-war employment, production and consumption outlook for Anderson County and to provide a sound basis for present and post-war planning in the field of agriculture, industry, and general business. The survey will undoubtedly serve as a model for other counties in the nation.

Following graduation from Maryland, Dr. Ezekiel carried on post-graduate work at the University of Minnesota and Brookings Institution, becoming Junior Agricultural Economist in the Department of Agriculture in 1922. He continued to progress as Economist of the Department until named to the present position in 1933. He is a member of the American Farm

Major Charles L. Cogswell, '36, Helps Toughen U. S. Marines

Major Charles L. Cogswell, '36, following battle experiences in the South Pacific has been one of two officers who have been in charge of conditioning Marines at the New River, North Carolina, Training Center. Cogswell, who saw action in the Solomons' melee, has helped prepare a regular "no man's land" bounded by crosses that support Jap helmets and which provide conditions closely resembling those in actual battle. At "H" hour the Marines slip over the top and roll through barbed wire entanglements. Land mines explode, machine guns fire in the air waist high, and air-bursting mortars rock the earth. There is nothing left to the imagination of men who complete the course by reaching the trench objective 75 yards ahead.

Major Cogswell, who is a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, was five months in the Solomons and wears the purple heart and silver star medals. Recently he was transferred to Quantico, Virginia.

Killed In Panama

Lieutenant Robert Willis, former member of the Maryland student body, Pershing Rifles, Pi Kappa fraternity, and the Baptist Student Union, was killed in Panama when his pursuit plane crashed.

At the end of his sophomore year, June, 1942, Lieutenant Willis left Maryland and entered the Army Air Forces.

While a member of the Pershing Rifles, he received the Medal of Honor. He was one of the first members of Pi Kappa fraternity and was Vice-President of the Baptist Student Union.

Col. Luckey, '27, and Major Ennis, '36, Commended by Major General Rupertus

Two University of Maryland graduates who have been serving with the Marine Corps have been commended by Major General William H. Rupertus, Commanding General of the Marine Forces at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, for their direction of artillery fire which aided in the achievement of the campaign objectives in near-record time.

In Same Regiment

Honored by the commendations are Lieutenant-Colonel Robert B. Luckey, '27, of Annapolis, Md., and Major Louis A. Ennis, '36, of Baltimore, both of whom are in the same regiment and served together throughout the Guadalcanal campaign in 1942.

The letter of commendation to Lieutenant-Colonel Luckey reads as follows: "For devotion to duty as Executive Officer, with additional duties on the staff of the Assistant Division Commander, at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, from December 26, 1943, to January 31, 1944. the country's "outrageous regimes."

May Win Next Time

Mr. Shirer emphasized that by the law of averages, Germany will some day win a war unless the United Nations make it impossible for that country to engage in warfare.

Miss Thompson, who also spoke on Germany, called for post-war plans which would include a strong federation of European states modeled on the Swiss constitution. All European nations should be included, and the very smallest group, which believes itself to be a nation, should be allowed to cut itself off from its present nation if it wishes, and federate as an entity. Thus, East Prussia, which has always been a German colony, in fact, should not be attached to Poland, for it is not Polish, but it should be represented as a separate state in the European federation. Slovakia, which never wanted to be dominated by the Czechs, should be allowed, if it desires, to enter as a separate state. Jugoslavia should be given a chance to enter the Soviet Union as part of that federation or to enter the European complex.

Germany, once the Nazi regime has been liquidated, and she has been disarmed, should be permitted to enter the federation as a single state or as separate states. Russia should be given natural boundaries in the West and be given spheres of influence in Bulgaria and Jugoslavia but, she added, that should be the limit of Russian expansion in Europe.

Miss Thompson also pleaded for a "Fifth" freedom — the freedom of movement of capital, goods, and labor. This freedom had been lost after World War I, she emphasized.

Colonel Joseph C. Burger, '25, Is Guest of President Byrd

Seen recently on campus at the Maryland Coast Guard boxing match was Lieutenant-Colonel Joseph C. Burger, '25, who was back from sixteen months in the South Pacific. Joe was the guest of the evening of President Byrd.

All-Time Athlete

One of Maryland's all-time athletes, Joe was outstanding in football and basketball and in 1924 and 1925 he won All-American honors in lacrosse. In 1925 he was named on the all-time all-Maryland football team.

Colonel Burger has been stationed in the South Pacific with the Marine Amphibious Corps and saw action at Guadalcanal and Bougainville.

Questioned during the boxing matches, Joe stated that the boys "down under" are very much interested in sports happenings back here in the States. He said they listen avidly to all the short-wave radio news they can get, dividing their interest equally between world events and sports.

He pointed out that the Marines are doing their own part to keep sports alive, particularly with boxing matches in the rest area. Softball and baseball also are favorites. Boxing takes the spotlight, however, and numerous big tournaments are held. Joe said that some of the Marine mittmen he has seen in action down there will make good pro-fighters after the war.

Students Raise $400,000 in 2nd Campus Victory Council War Bond Drive

Students in the most recent bond drive on the Maryland campus did themselves proud when they turned in a total of $400,000, which exceeded the drive held last summer by more than $300,000. The money was partially used to purchase 13 Fairchild trainer planes for the Army. The planes were purchased from the Fairchild plant at Hagerstown and dedication ceremonies were held on March 18.

Climax of the three-week competition, which was part of the National Fourth War Loan Drive, was a Victory Ball held in the Gym-Armory. At that time Vivian Smelkinson of Baltimore, a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was crowned the 1944 War Bond Queen by Robert Bishton, of Elkridge, chairman of the Student Victory Council.

Miss Smelkinson was named Queen by virtue of the fact that her sorority, Alpha Epsilon Phi, won the campaign with a total of $153,226. Among the contributions of this sorority were a $100.00 bond and several $10,000 bonds.

Other groups on the campus which placed high in the drive included Anne Arundel Hall, which placed second with $76,278 worth of bonds; Kappa Kappa Gamma, with $52,593; and Kappa Delta with $40,713.

Old Line Boxers Make Fine Record Meeting Toughest Kind of Opposition

Maryland's young and inexperienced boxers came through the 1944 season with three wins and three losses — a fine record in view of the tough opposition and the handicaps that Coach Rubini had to overcome before the College Parkers were able to step into the ring for their first fight.

Credit To Rubini

Much credit goes to the new coach who lifted the Old Liners from comparative obscurity to a top place in the national collegiate sports picture. Rube had troubles from the start in whipping together the squad. In fact, there was considerable doubt at one time that Maryland would have a varsity boxing team because of the poor pre-season prospects and the fact that only one letterman returned to the campus this year. It was around this one letterman, 155-pound Alex Bobenko, that Rubini began to build his team.

From the All-University boxing tournament, staged primarily to obtain varsity material, Rubini uncovered 120-pound Ed Gauvin, 127-pound Bill Coakley, and 165-pound Sid Sterman. With at least four weight divisions taken care of, Rubini again hit the trail to scout for fighters in the 135, 145 and 175-pound classes and a heavyweight. Luck was with him as he discovered each one of these during the boxing practice. Diminutive 16-year-old Ray Hanbury, brother to the pro fighter, Lew, looked good in practice and got Rubini's nod for the lightweight spot. Fast and clever Vic Berman caught the Terp mentor's eye and was installed in the 145-pound class. Frank Doory was drafted from the basketball team to handle the light-heavyweight division, and burly Dan Marowitz, 205-pound freshman, took over the responsibility of heavyweight.

Trip West Point Twice

With his team fairly well in mind, Rubini carried on rigid practices for the opening match with West Point, which Maryland won, 4½ to 3½. The Terps then traveled to Chapel Hill to receive their first defeat from the University of North Carolina, 6-2. Returning home, they took revenge on an outclassed Penn State team to the tune of 6-2 and then traveled to West Point to score a second time over Army, 4½ to 2½.

The Marylanders then took a well-deserved rest before starting for Madison for a test with the highly-touted University of Wisconsin Badgers. Rubini and the Old Line team received much publicity in the

One of the thrills of the Maryland-Penn State boxing match was the 35-second knockout of Jack Chebek of Penn State by Maryland's 200-pound heavyweight, Dan Marowitz.

Wisconsin papers, as Rube had been one of the standouts in boxing and football while a student at Wisconsin. Maryland gave the Badgers a busy evening and seriously threatened the 12-year record of undefeated home bouts but lost a close 4½ to 3½ decision in a wild and woolly match.

The Old Liners rang the curtain down on their tough season by falling before the perennially troublesome Coast Guard Academy of New London, by the score of 4½ to 3½.

Outstanding among the Terp fighters was Captain Bobenko, who climaxed four years of boxing at Maryland with an un- (Continued on Page 7)

Basketball Team Completes Very Discouraging Season

Maryland's hapless quintet, which was plagued by misfortune, brought the basketball season to a close with a series of six away-from-home games. The only win secured while on the road was in Lexington, Va., against V. M. I. For the second time, the Keydets fell before the Marylanders by the score of 31-29.

The Liners opened their away-from-home campaign in Richmond and dropped a fast-moving game, 65-34. A return game with the Woodrow Wilson General Hospital brought the second defeat from that team, 35-25. Then Catholic University evened the series with the College Parkers by beating them, 55-33.

Coach Heagy gave his worn basketekers a brief rest before going to Annapolis and West Point to face the two top service fives in the country. The Midshipmen had little trouble in turning back the Marylanders, 69-35, and the great Army team of West Point also came through with an 85-22 defeat for the Old Liners.

A few days before the Navy scrap, Maryland received a bid to the annual Southern Conference play-off at Chapel Hill. However, the Marylanders checked in one day and out the next as they bowed to a flashy North Carolina five, 42-23.

The Liners' two crack forwards, Jack Flynn and little Joe Acito, scored over half of the team's total points. Flynn garnered 160 markers for an average of nine points a game and Acito tallied for 134 to bring their combined total to 294 out of the 550 pointers made by the entire team.

Dr. David Culbreth Dies

Dr. David M. R. Culbreth, retired professor of pharmacology at the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy and former honorary president of the American Pharmaceutical Association, passed away last fall. Dr. Culbreth was a native of Kent County, Delaware.

Scott Beck, '07, Passes Away In Chestertown, March 13

S. Scott Beck, who received his law degree from the University of Maryland in 1907, passed away in Chestertown on March 13. Mr. Beck, widely known as a leading Eastern Shore Democrat, was stricken with pneumonia after visiting his Baltimore law offices. He was 61 years of age.

Mr. Beck was former State Senator and was Controller of Customs in Baltimore City from 1933 to 1938. At the time of his death he was President of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland, President of the Kent Defense Corporation, Secretary and member of the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College, of which he was an alumnus, and senior member of the law firm of Beck and Beck in Chestertown. He was State's Attorney for Kent County from 1920 to 1927.

Mr. Beck is survived by his wife, the former Miss Mackey Perry, of Centreville, Md.; a son, Navy Lieutenant S. Scott Beck, Jr., '38, on duty in the South Pacific; and a daughter Mrs. Richard F. Whelton, of Chestertown.

DR. H. C. BYRD

Post-war plans for the University of Maryland were discussed recently by President Byrd in an address to the Advertising Club of Baltimore. Highlights of his talk are presented here.

"We have lost our touch with fundamental things, and after the war we must return to them. We must train boys who return from the war to be competent leaders."

Dr. Byrd thus summed up the primary aims of the University of Maryland for the years following the war.

A new school, to be called the Institute of World Economics and Politics and designed to fit Americans to deal properly with foreign peoples as diplomatic and business agents of the United States, is planned. The school will offer intensive courses in politics of foreign nations, foreign ideologies, natural resources and languages that will give students "real knowledge of the people they will deal with, buy from and sell to."

Economics, politics, languages, and social studies will be coordinated in the new school in a way never done before, according to Dr. Byrd.

Stress On Fundamentals

Another post-war development for the University, he reported, will be a greater emphasis on "fundamental subjects," including history in which will be underscored needs of the people, political movements, and the relation of climate and geography to the progress of nations.

Intensive courses in English will aim to give the student "a mastery of his own language" such as few persons possess. University students in the post-war years will learn to write and speak competently, no matter what field of endeavor they plan to enter.

U.Md. Is Planning Now For Post-War Years—

Language courses will be directed mainly toward students who will need them in their work, Dr. Byrd said. To that end they will be taught with greater intensity and be coordinated with a knowledge of the problems of the countries in which they are used.

President Byrd predicted a decrease in the number of students taking foreign languages. The average student takes a foreign tongue only because he has to, and if curricular requirements which compel students to take language courses were abolished, many would drop out, he declared. After the war it will be necessary for high schools to teach more advanced courses to relieve the colleges, many of which now offer courses that belong to institutions on a lower level, Dr. Byrd pointed out.

Big Philosophy Department

The University is making plans for the biggest department of philosophy in any Eastern university, Dr. Byrd revealed, citing that plan as evidence that "the day of the liberal arts college is just beginning."

Philosophy will be strongly emphasized because "in philosophical principles lies the truth of things." Similar emphasis is being placed on philosophy in training at Oxford of administrators for the British colonies, the President said.

Dr. Byrd posed the question of whether Americans desire colleges to train students for a democracy where the forms are preserved, as in England, while actual government is administered by a group of men educated for that task, or for a so-called "pure democracy" in which the people at large rule. This question, he said, is a basic one, and will have to be answered by citizens of the United States.

Seeks Higher Standards

"We are two years behind the English and Germans in education," Dr. Byrd declared, and predicted that after the war Americans will have to compete with better trained workers of Britain and Germany. For this reason, he said, standards in American colleges and universities must be raised.

The post-war university that survives, according to President Byrd, will be that institution which "adapts itself to the needs of succeeding generations."

Relief Group May Study at Maryland

While definite plans have not yet been worked out, it is probable that from 200 to 300 men and women will be trained at the University of Maryland for service with the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

The UNRRA group will use the University's facilities but will have its own staff of instructors. Housing accommodations will be provided in the men's dormitories, and meals at the dining hall.

Civilian students at the College Park branch of the University include 878 women and 425 men enrolled for the Spring quarter. In addition, 160 Army men are receiving special training. At the Baltimore division, 1,289 students are enrolled in medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, education and law.

In the Winter quarter enrollment at College Park totaled approximately 2,500, including 1,000 Army Specialized Training students. The AST men remaining on the campus are being housed in Calvert Hall.

Wharton Wins A Silver Star

For crawling through intense machine-gun and mortar fire after being wounded, to a radio from which he directed mortar fire in the direction of German machine-gun nests, Capt. James (Pop) Wharton, '42, has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry in action.

"The magnificent courage, outstanding calmness and unusual stamina shown by Lieutenant (at that time) Wharton was an inspiration to his men," his citation stated.

Lieutenant Wharton was leading his company in mountain assaults on Cassino, along the road to Rome, when he met heavy enemy fire. Although wounded three times, he completed a 20-yard crawl to a radio where he informed his infantry battalion command post and directed mortar fire which destroyed the machine-gun nests.

Captain Wharton has returned from the Cassino battlefield to undergo an ankle operation at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

CAPTAIN BOND

William R. Bond Is War Prisoner

Capt. William R. Bond, '40, is a prisoner of war in a German prison camp following his capture in Italy.

The 25-year-old former law student at the University of Maryland, officially listed as missing in Italy on January 30, was first reported to be a prisoner of war in a German radio broadcast picked up by the War Department on February 4. The War Department passed the information on to Captain Bond's family in Relay, Md.

On April 1 a German postkarte was received from Captain Bond saying he was in a German prison camp. He reported that aside from a slight wound he was in perfect health.

Captain Bond was with one of the Ranger battalions at the Anzio beachhead which were in the vanguard of the recent attack on Cisterna. The two battalions overreached their positions and were cut off by superior German forces.

Bond enlisted as a private in July, 1941, earned his commission through Officers' Candidate School, Fort Knox, Ky., and was assigned to an armored division. He first saw action in the invasion of North Africa in 1942, and campaigned with his unit in Tunisia and Sicily. Last fall he transferred to the Rangers.

Captain Bond was graduated from the University of Maryland and had completed his first year in the Maryland Law School when he left to join the Army.

Thies Scores Against Japs

Lieut. William Norris Thies, '35, won his Navy Cross in the storm-lashed Aleutians when he scored a bomb hit on an enemy transport in an attack on Kiska Harbor. But that is only part of the outstanding record the 26-year-old flyer has chalked up against the Japs.

Lieutenant Thies also is credited with dropping a 500-pound bomb on a Japanese submarine from a height of 200 feet, when 1,000 feet is considered the minimum for a plane's safety from its own bomb of that size. For the feat of "forgetting" to jettison his torpedo before coming down in a blind fog, and thus saving the expensive weapon for a later day, Lieutenant Thies received a special award — a box of cigars — from his wing commander.

Born in Washington, D. C., Lieutenant Thies received his degree from the College of Arts and Sciences. His picture occupied the entire front cover of the Washington Sunday Star's rotogravure section for April 2 as one of the "Heroes of the Washington Area."

Graduate Saw Tragic Blunder

Capt. Lawrence Hoover, '39, witnessed and tried to prevent the destruction by Allied gunfire of 23 American transport planes loaded with 410 paratroopers over the Sicilian coast last July 10, news of which was released only recently by the War Department.

In a broadcast from New York, Merrill Mueller, NBC war reporter, disclosed that he and Captain Hoover recognized that the transports were friendly and tried to get an anti-aircraft control center to report it. They were fired upon by a machine-gun crew, which thought they were fifth-columnists, and forced to take cover in a foxhole.

After Allied anti-aircraft defenses discovered the mixup, according to Mueller, they withheld their fire and let the German planes bomb without retaliation until the American planes were clear of the area.

Captain Hoover was a member of the Diamondback staff while a student at the University. Following his graduation he became editor of the Prince Georges Post, Hyattsville, and later was a reporter on the Washington Daily News.

Former Student In Prison Camp

Staff Sgt. Robert J. Laut, Flying Fortress gunner, who was a student at the University of Maryland in 1941-42, for the second time has been reported safe after being listed as missing in action over Germany. He is a prisoner of war this time.

Sergeant Laut failed to return from a raid on Frankfurt February 4, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Laut, of Silver Spring, Md., have been notified by the International Red Cross that he is in a German prison camp.

Previously Sergeant Laut was reported missing in action in the October 11 raid on Schweinfurt, but before the word reached his parents he had returned to his base in England. He wrote home then that he had received 54 letters addressed to him and stamped "missing in action."

This time eight weeks passed before his parents learned of his survival after his plane and the entire crew went down over the target.

While attending the University, Laut was enrolled in the College of Engineering. He was a graduate of Randolph Macon Academy, Front Royal, Va.

Maryland's Graduates Active In Every Part of the World

Lieut. Mearle DuVall, '42, paratrooper in the U. S. Army, is at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., for treatment of a leg injury. He has been serving in the European theater of operations. Upon his return, he saw his daughter, Mary Stephanie, for the first time. Lieutenant DuVall participated in football and basketball at the University.

Lieut. Charles F. Simms, '41, and his wife, Gertrude Plummer Simms, '40, visited the campus recently. Lieutenant Simms was commissioned in the Air Forces in 1943 and for a time was stationed in the Caribbean area on anti-submarine patrol. He is now at Westover Field, Mass.

Edward Naughton, '34, now a captain in the United States Army, is in North Africa.

Recent visitors to the University campus were Lieut. J. M. Crockett, '43, and his wife, Shirley McKay Crockett, '43. Lieutenant Crockett is a special services officer and athletic officer in the Army and is stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Dorothy Dennis, '40, is an Ensign in the Waves, and is stationed at the Washington Navy Yard. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority at the University.

Word has been received that Mary Hedda Bohlin, '39, has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the Marines. Lieutenant Bohlin is stationed at Cherry Point, N. C.

Capt. John W. Guckeyson, '37, is a flight leader in a P-47 Thunderbolt Fighter Squadron based in England. His ship is named "Contrary Mary." Captain Guckeyson was graduated in May, 1942, from West Point. He was a four-letter man at the University of Maryland.

Joseph Caldara, '31, has been promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel in the U. S. Army. Colonel Caldara was an Economics major at the University.

A note from Capt. David Kelley, Jr., '41: "I sure have seen a lot of the world since June, 1941. My division captured Oran in the African campaign. We fought the Germans in Tunisia and in the Sicilian invasion. I made a 'mistake' last July on Sicily and have been in the hospital ever since." Captain Kelley is at the McCloskey Hospital.

ISABEL BUTLER

Isabel Butler, '41, recently was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps Women's Reserve. She completed eight weeks of training at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., and will remain there for officer indoctrination before further assignment. In civil life Lieutenant Butler was a physical education instructor.

Major Maurice Pincus, '29, was married March 26 to Lieut. Pauline Graff, Women's Army Corps, Ft. Totten, New York.

Major General Norman T. Kirk, '10, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Science at Davidson College, Davidson, North Carolina, April 8. He was graduated from the University of Maryland with the M.D. degree. General Kirk was appointed Surgeon-General in June of 1943.

Doris Hampshire, '42, and Charles Harry, '43, were married on Wednesday, March 29. He recently received his commission as a second lieutenant at Ft. Benning, Ga., and will be stationed there for a while. Mrs. Harry was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Sgt. Elias Cohen, '42, is now stationed at Camp Reynolds, Pa. He is a graduate of the College of Education, and majored in Entomology. He is now experimenting with penicillin at Camp Reynolds.

Lieut. (j.g.) Dave Shihadeh and Mrs. Shihadeh, the former Jeanne Santamarie, '41, have been transferred from Miami, Fla., to Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Shihadeh was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority and Mortar Board.

Lieut. and Mrs. Gerald E. Prentice are now making their home at 111 Broad Street, Sumter, S. C. Mrs. Prentice is the former Barbara Boose, '41, and Lieutenant Prentice, '42, is now taking flight training in the Air Corps. She was an Alpha Omicron Pi, and he was an Alpha Tau Omega.

Lieut. and Mrs. Burton H. Andrews, the former Eurith Maynard, '42, have announced the birth of a daughter, Eurith Lynn, on January 23. Mrs. Andrews was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Lieutenant Andrews is a graduate of the Naval Academy.

Mary Vaiden and Clare Vawter, both members of Alpha Omicron Pi and '42 graduates, are following their major in Home Economics and are now doing work in dietetics. Miss Vaiden is now living at 1070 Green Street, San Francisco, Calif., while Miss Vawter is at 212 Liberty Bldg., Yakima, Wash.

Mrs. Fred Hicks, the former Betty Brookens, '41, is now making her home with her parents on Colesville Road, Hyattsville, Md., since her husband has left for duty overseas. He is now a first lieutenant, and previously was stationed at Bisbee, Ariz. He was a member of the Class of '42 and a member of Sigma Chi, and she was an Alpha Omicron Pi.

Mrs. Howard Lee Keller is making her home with her parents at 2708 Hanover Avenue, Richmond, 20, Va., since her husband left for overseas duty. Mrs. Keller is the former Ann Speake, former student here, and was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi. Lieutenant Keller a '43 graduate, was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. They previously made their home in Rector, N. C., when he was stationed at Fort Bragg.

The promotion of Capt. John S. Thatcher, assistant personnel officer of the Sixth Air Force, to the grade of major has been announced by the Caribbean Defense Command. Major Thatcher received his Master's Degree at the University of Maryland in 1941.

Bertha (Sugar) Langford Hunt, '40, is a Captain in the Wac. Captain Hunt is the wife of Richard Hunt, '37.

Betty St. Clair, '40, is a Lieutenant (j.g.) in the Waves, and is stationed at the Navy Yard in New York. Her sister, Jean St. Clair, was a student at the University in 1935-36. She is now with the Red Cross in England.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Lois Walker, a member of the Junior class at the University, and Ensign Donald Pilcher, '43. Miss Walker is a member of Sigma Kappa sorority, and Ensign Pilcher belongs to Alpha Lambda Tau fraternity. Ensign Pilcher was graduated in Engineering.

Jane Maxson, '40, was married recently to John W. West, of West Newton, Mass. Mrs. West received a Bachelor of Science Degree in Home Economics.

A private in the Paratroopers, James Q. Kurz is now stationed in Ireland, and writes that he has seen a number of historical castles there. Private Kurz was a student in the University in 1942-43, and played Freshman football.

N. P. (Pat) Alexander is now an aviation cadet and is stationed at Carlsbad, New Mexico. He attended the University in 1942-43.

John Silkman, '35, is stationed with the U. S. Army in India. He received a Bachelor of Science Degree at the University, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Joe Burk, '40, is with the U. S. Army in North Africa, and is rooming with Major Paul E. (Pete) Pfeiffer, '37, who is at the Message Center.

Mary Katherine Martin, '43, was married April 4 to Corp. George L. Cary, Jr., U. S. Army Air Forces. Mrs. Cary is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Corporal Cary is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. Corporal Cary is stationed at Tampa, Fla.

Cadet Ralph B. Finkbinder, Jr., student at the University in 1942-43, has been appointed flight officer in the Army Air Force, after completing bombardier training at the Carlsbad, New Mexico, Army Air Field.

Lieut. Col. Robert Archer, '35, is serving overseas with the American Red Cross.

Contact Magazine will henceforth have as one of its writers Dr. Martin Kafka, '24. Dr. Kafka, Army flight surgeon, will write on problems of Medical Aviation.

Marine Lieut. Col. Joseph Burger, '25, has been commended by Admiral Halsey for his work with the Marine Amphibious Corps during recent operations in the Solomons. Lieut. Col. Burger was an All-American lacrosse player at Maryland, and starred in football. He is now stationed at Marine Headquarters in Washington, D. C.

Travel Notes On Maryland Alumni Around the Globe

The American Society of Civil Engineers paid tribute to the memory of Edward Russell Allen, '26, in a recent memoir. Mr. Allen was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering. While at the University, he was particularly interested in military training activities, and in his senior year was captain of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps company which received the award for being best trained. He was an excellent lacrosse player and was named to a position on the All-American team. After graduating from the University, he entered the civil engineering field. Death at the age of 35, in 1941, ended a career full of promise, according to the pamphlet.

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Major Charles L. Cogswell, '36, U. S. Marine Corps, and Margaret Louise Hoyt of Washington, D. C. Major Cogswell took his B.S. degree at the University of Maryland and was taking the law course at Franklin University when he entered the service. He served at Guadalcanal and elsewhere in the Pacific, and has been decorated several times.

Judge Ogle Marbury, '04, has assumed office as chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals. Judge Marbury had been chief judge of the Seventh Judicial Circuit and a member of the Appellate Court since 1941. Following his graduation from the University, Marbury was admitted to the Maryland Bar on his 22nd birthday. He was a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from 1910 to 1912, and subsequently held numerous public offices.

Major Carl C. Barthel, who left the University of Maryland to enlist in July, 1941, with only six months of his schooling to finish, has been overseas since August, 1942. He is stationed at a Liberator base in England, and has participated in a number of raids against occupied Europe. Major Barthel thinks he will go to the University of Maryland Medical School after the war. At 27, he isn't too old, he believes, to study medicine. He took two years of pre medicine during his student days here.

Mrs. Reeves Tilley, the former Klovla McKennon, '42, and Prof. Richard R. Hutcheson of the University Speech Department, have just completed a book entitled "Speech Correction." Mrs. Tilley majored in Speech at the University, and is now working in the speech clinics at American University and Catholic University. Her husband, Lieut. Reeves Tilley, '42, was a member of the Terrapin track team. He is stationed in North Africa.

William H. Hazlehurst, a student at the University in 1940-42, has been commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He was graduated from the Naval Air Training Center, Corpus Christi, Tex.

The engagement of Marie Beall, '43, and Lieut. Robert C. James, U. S. Army, has been announced. Miss Beall is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Lieutenant James attended the University from 1940 to 1943. He was a member of Alpha Tau Omega and Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity. He is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where he recently received his commission. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Elliott Harwood, the former Earla Marshall, '41, is making her home at Pasadena, Calif., while her husband, Capt. Harwood, former student of the University, is on a special mission in the Pacific. Mrs. Harwood was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Capt. Harwood was a member of Theta Chi fraternity when he was a student at the University, 1937-40.

An editorial on higher education in America, entitled "Worth Fighting For", written by Edward Rider for the Diamondback, took third place in the 1943 National Editorial Writing Competition, sponsored by Phi Delta Epsilon, honorary Journalism fraternity, according to a recent announcement. Editorials were submitted by 114 writers from every section of the country. Pfc. Rider has been accepted for Officers' Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Norman M. Glasgow, '43, is a technical corporal in the U. S. Army, and is stationed in Natal, Brazil.

On April 3, James P. Kemper, student at the University of Maryland in 1882-84, visited the campus. At the time he was in school here, Mr. Kemper said, there was only one building, and enrollment consisted of 40 students. Mr. Kemper later was graduated from the University of Alabama. He has written much on flood control of the Mississippi River, and in the past year, at the age of 75, has written a plan for peace.

Nats Train at College Park

When Judge Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, decreed that major league teams should carry on spring training north of the Potomac River, Clark Griffith and his Washington Senators chose College Park. Thus, for the second year, students on the University of Maryland campus are getting a close look at a big-time baseball aggregation working into shape.

Morning practices on the diamond have attracted goodly crowds, especially since the weather encourages such spectators. Manager Ossie Bluege has begun the year with a handful of veterans and a bushel-load of South American players. Bluege expects a great deal from these "good neighbors", the cream of the crop south of the border. Between contending with comedian Coach Nick Altrock and the non-English-speaking South Americans, Bluege is having plenty of trouble.

Minus more players than opening spring training should have, Bluege's troubles became involved, especially so when he got notice that three Latin American catchers allegedly "missed the boat." The missing player problem became so serious that 43-year-old Bluege volunteered to return to his former infield duties.

It was a glad sight when experienced hurlers like Dutch Leonard, Milo Candini, Johnny Niggeling, Alex Carrasquel, and Early Wynn reported early to work out their winter kinks. However, there was room for worry when the Nats' infield reported a shortage due to late reports.

When the Washington mentor finally gathered all players in camp who had signed contracts, he began his job in earnest with veterans George Case and Jake Powell flashing mid-season form at bat and afield. Early training season games have kept the Senators' pennant-winning hopes high, as several wins have been chalked up in this area.

Carrasquel, the big twirler from Venezuela, has added interpreting to his pitching duties. The Latin American relays Bluege's messages to his countrymen and vice-versa. Bluege isn't half as interested in their language study as he is in seeing what they can do to bolster a typical wartime Washington team. Advanced reports reveal the Senators a favorite to give any team a battle for first place.

With the addition of more night games to their schedule, the American Leaguers have a definite advantage with the knuckle ball. Five Nat pitchers are adept at this tossing, which is especially effective under the lights.

Terp Letterman Made A Captain

Bernard A. Cummings, '37, has been promoted to the rank of captain at the Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Barbara, Calif., where he is assigned to duty as materiel officer of a Marine aviation group.

Captain Cummings was a Terp letterman in football and basketball, and was active in campus affairs. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Son of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Cummings of Chevy Chase, Md., Captain Cummings was a 1932 graduate of St. John's Preparatory School in Washington, D. C. Before joining the Marine Corps in 1943, he was engaged in real estate development work near Washington.

Captain Cummings received his officer training at Quantico, Va., and New River, N. C.

Teammates Again

Capt. John W. Guckeyson, one of the greatest halfbacks in the University of Maryland's football history, is the flight leader of a P-47 Thunderbolt squadron operating out of England. Recently, Guckeyson and Lieut. George A. DeWitt Jr., one of Maryland's all-time basketball stars and high scorers, met in London. DeWitt is flying a Marauder bomber.

In other words, Guckeyson may be running interference for another illustrious College Parker some day on a flight over Nazi territory.

8 Grid Tilts Are Planned

Fall and intercollegiate football are still far away and an extensive intramural program including the pigskin sport will take the place of Spring practice. Still, it is likely that Maryland will schedule about eight games for autumn, beginning with Hampden-Sydney early in October.

Other teams scheduled to play in Byrd Stadium are West Virginia, Virginia Military Institute, and Virginia. The Terps will travel to Florida for the Florida U. game and to North Carolina for the tilt with Wake-Forrest. Arrangements are being completed for other games.

An integrated plan for intramurals, featuring tennis, baseball, tackle football and track, has been initiated under the guidance of Dr. Clarence Spears, physical education director.

Commenting on the Spring athletic program, Dr. Spears said that "all the facilities, coaches, and equipment regularly used in intercollegiate sports are being turned over to the boys in the gym classes for their use; however, it is still essentially an intramural program."

After several weeks of training and practice, intramural teams will be organized in the baseball, track, and football classes to provide competition. Some sort of competition also is planned for students in the tennis classes.

Woods Promoted Following Citation

Lieut. Mark W. Woods, assistant professor of Plant Pathology at the University of Maryland, after a year at sea has been stationed at Chincoteague Naval Air Station, Va.

Son of former president Albert Woods, Lieutenant Woods received his Bachelor of Science Degree at Maryland in 1931, his Master of Science Degree in 1932, and his Ph.D. Degree in 1936. He is now on leave of absence from his teaching duties.

Lieutenant Woods was one of the men receiving a Presidential Citation for anti-submarine service on the U. S. S. Card and recently was promoted to the rank of full lieutenant. His wife, Vera Klein Woods, '32, and daughter, Judy, are now with him.

Degrees Given To 115 Seniors

The University of Maryland granted degrees to 115 members of the graduating class and presented certificates to 233 Army Specialized Training Program cadets at commencement exercises in the Coliseum on Saturday, March 26.

Principal speakers were Representative Lansdale G. Sasser, Brig. Gen. Walter L. Weible, director of the Army Ground Forces training; and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore. Honorary degrees were conferred as follows:

Emerson Columbus Harrington, Cambridge, Governor of Maryland during the World War, was awarded in absentia the degree of Doctor of Laws; William Sidney Gordy, Jr., Salisbury, State Comptroller of the Treasury from 1922 to 1939, received the degree of Doctor of Science in Business Administration.

Certificates Awarded

Certificates of Merit were presented to Roy C. F. Weagly, Deep Creek, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau; William A. Walker, Mt. Airy, first president of the Maryland Tobacco Growers Association; and Mrs. Susan Fry, Laytonsville, president of the Associated Women of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

Degrees were conferred upon members of the class by President H. C. Byrd. Certificates were awarded to ASTP graduates by General Weible.

Representative Sasser commended the University on the work it is doing, and stressed the responsibility of educated persons for remolding "a world broken to pieces by the war." The war has proved that American goods and American citizens can excel, he said, and "if we can be superior in war we also can be superior in peace."

Change Is Explained

Discontinuance of the ASTP was made necessary by manpower shortages and not by lack of recognition of the Army for the need of brains, General Weible declared. "You don't like it and neither do I," he said, "but the change was made only after months of consideration."

Mayor McKeldin's address followed a Maryland Day theme. He traced the history of the State and described its economic growth, traditions, culture, politics, and the part it is playing in the war effort.

Music for the graduation exercises was supplied by the University orchestra and the ASTP band.

Three New Dormitories for Men Will Accommodate About 400

This is one of three new dormitories being constructed for men students at the University of Maryland. Of colonial architecture, the buildings are situated adjacent to the other dormitories for men.

Approximately 400 men will be housed in the new dormitories, raising the number of students who can be lodged on the campus to more than 900. It is hoped that the structures will be completed by July 1. Furnishings have been purchased and will be installed this summer.

Appearance of the dormitory group is in harmony with other new buildings on the campus. The buildings are of brick construction, and will contain mostly double rooms.

Margaret Brent Hall, which has been used by cadets in the Army Specialized Training Program, now greatly curtailed, will be ready for occupancy by women students this summer or fall. Anne Arundel Hall was not taken over by the Army.

Who-What-When-Where-Why

Nellie Buckey, '25, head of the Home Economics Department at Peabody College, is now on leave of absence and doing research for her Ph.D. Degree in the Office of Education in Washington, D. C. Following her graduation from the College of Home Economics at the University of Maryland, she was associated with Teachers College at Columbia University where she conducted student trips to Europe and took groups to the South to supervise homemaking under rural conditions.

Dorothea Freseman, '30, known as Dorothea Duncan on the radio and as a writer, is in the Marines.

Robert Rivello, '43, is a lieutenant in the United States Army Air Corps. He is stationed at Clovis, New Mexico. At the University he was a member of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, captain of Pershing Rifles, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

A visitor to the College Park campus on April 13 was Ensign Mary Jane Chase, '43. Following her graduation, Ensign Chase spent two months at Smith College where she was commissioned in January of this year, after which she went to Mt. Holyoke for two months' training in communications. Since that time she has been doing communications work in the Navy Department in Washington. At the University she was a member of Mortar Board, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Lambda Delta sorority, and secretary of the Junior class.

Major Robert A. Hitch, a pre-medical student at the University in 1937-39, is stationed with the Corps of Engineers at Fort Belvoir, Va. Before reporting to Fort Belvoir, he was military attache in Nicaragua for 14 months, and also had been on duty in Costa Rica and Colombia.

A. Walter Kraus Sr., a graduate of the University of Maryland Law School, died April 8 in Baltimore, Md. Mr. Kraus became an Assistant United States Attorney in 1911, was made Assistant State's Attorney for Baltimore two years later, and was appointed Assistant City Solicitor in 1919, serving until 1923. He practiced law from 1931 to 1938, and had been a member of the legal staff of the New Amsterdam Casualty Company since the latter year.

Lieut. Ian Forbes, '41, is in England. He went through the North African and Sicilian campaigns with the field artillery and writes that he has "seen plenty" of action.

Lieut. (j.g.) John Mullady, '41, visited his home at Sligo recently after 19 months of service in the Caribbean area.

Lieut. (j.g.) Charles DiGuilian, ex-'42, wounded in action in July, 1943, while on a bombing mission in the Pacific, was returned home in November, and since that time has been receiving medical treatment at the Bethesda Naval Hospital. He was co pilot of a Liberator bomber when he was shot in the head.

Justus Steele Dies in Crash

Lieut. Commander Justus Underwood Steele, '34, was killed in a plane crash April 12, the Navy Department has informed his parents.

Commander Steele, 32 years old, entered his training as a flying cadet at Pensacola, Fla., in 1937. Before the war he was attached to the light cruiser Brooklyn. Since Pearl Harbor he had seen action in both the Atlantic and Pacific areas. At the time of his death he was stationed near Seattle, Wash. He received his most recent promotion last summer.

A native of Baltimore, Commander Steele moved to Hyattsville with his parents as a boy. He attended the public schools, University of Maryland, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. After graduation from the latter school, he was employed by the Washington Institute of Technology and later in the Lands Division of the Justice Department.

He is survived besides his parents by his widow, Mrs. Barbara Steele, now living on the West Coast, and a sister, Mrs. Florence Chichester, Takoma Park, Md.

Dantzig Given Service Award

The Exceptional Civilian Service Award, highest War Department award for meritorious civilian service, has been given to George B. Dantzig, '36. The citation follows:

"In recognition of his outstanding contribution to the War Department in the development of procedures and designs which have improved the statistical reporting system and greatly benefited the program of the Army Air Forces. His invention of a bombardments requirements computer and three computers for determination of maintenance, replacement, and aircraft and crew requirements, have been important factors to the Army Air Forces in certain phases of its mission."

Dantzig is the son of Prof. Tobias Dantzig, former head of the Department of Mathematics at the University of Maryland.

Day Missing in Action

Lieut. Irving M. Day Jr., Maryland University student in 1940-41, an Eighth Air Force bombardier, was reported missing in action following a raid on Germany April 11.

A 1940 graduate of the Bethesda-Chevy Chase High School, Lieutenant Day was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving M. Day (Continued on page 7)

Maryland Alumnus and Instructor, M. A. Pyle, Dies of Heart Attack

Milton A. Pyle '18, associate professor of Civil Engineering at the University of Maryland, died of a heart attack at his home in College Park on April 20. He apparently had been in good health, and was working in his garden shortly before his death.

Professor Pyle, 49, had been a member of the University staff since his graduation. In addition to the Bachelor of Science degree, he received the C.E. professional degree in 1937.

An engineer on many State and county projects, Professor Pyle had most recently served as engineer for the Prince Georges County Improvement Commission. For several summers he was employed by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, and was in charge of laying out the Calvert Hills subdivision. He also served as engineer of surveys on Maryland's primary bridge program, and had conducted the surveying for the proposed bridge across the Chesapeake Bay, the bridge across the Patuxent River at Baltimore, the Potomac Bridge at Ludlow's Ferry, and others.

Professor Pyle was a member of Tau

Jumping Star Held by Nazis

First word to reach this country that Lieut. Thomas E. Miller, '39, was missing in action, came in a shortwave broadcast from Germany. The Nazi broadcast said that he was a prisoner of war. It was learned through the Government's recently established shortwave service that Lieutenant Miller was interned in Germany.

His parents believe that their son was one of 900 American soldiers captured January 30 during the battle of Cisterna in Italy. Not until March 13 did the War Department officially notify them that he was missing in action in the Mediterranean area.

Late in April, his parents received a card from Lieutenant Miller saying that he was a prisoner and in good health, but the War Department has not officially notified them of this.

Lieutenant Miller was a record-breaking high jumper and track star at the University of Maryland, and has been overseas with the Rangers since last October.

At the University, Lieutenant Miller established the yet-unbroken 6 feet 3 3/4 inch high jump in 1937.

He married Miss Dorothy Eckart in December, 1941, and entered the Army a year later.

Mr. McWilliams is married and has four children.

Playing Ball for Uncle Sam Now —

BILL GUCKEYSON

CHARLEY KELLER

Two former Maryland athletes are playing Bigtime ball now. Capt. John W. (Bill) Guckeyson is in the Army Air Forces, and Charles Ernest (Charley) Keller is with the Maritime Service.

Captain Guckeyson, one of the University of Maryland's greatest all-round athletes, is going great guns against the enemy in the skies over Europe. Flight leader of a P-47 Thunderbolt squadron, he has shot down or destroyed on the ground five German planes.

At the University, from which he was graduated in 1937, Guckeyson starred in football, soccer and basketball and was president of his class in his final year.

After several seasons with the New York Yankees, Charley Keller, once hailed as a second Babe Ruth, has taken up the cudgel for Uncle Sam.

Keller is remembered as key man on one of the greatest teams ever to represent Maryland on the diamond. As a member of the 1936 team that Coach Shipley took to the Southern Conference Tournament, he starred in the outfield and at bat, and the Terps nabbed the Conference crown.

In his first year in intercollegiate baseball, King Kong Keller, as he was then known, hit an even .500, an average far above any other college player's, and ranked second in the number of bases stolen. He graduated in 1938 and was with the Newark Bears two seasons before joining the Yanks.

Capt. Carl Barthel Awarded Flying Cross

Capt. Carl C. Barthel, University student 1937-41, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for "extraordinary achievement and heroism" while participating in missions over Europe, the Eighth Air Force has announced.

Previously awarded the Silver Star for his part in the bombing of the Ploesti Oil Refineries, Captain Barthel has been overseas since August, 1942. On the Ploesti mission, he successfully led the formation home when the lead bomber was shot down.

Before entering the Army in July, 1941, Captain Barthel was an instructor at the John Carroll School in Silver Spring.

Capt. R. J. Goodhart Goes to Ft. Knox, Ky.

Capt. Raymond J. (Buddy) Goodhart, '36, has returned to this country from Italy, and will become an instructor in the Armored School at Fort Knox, Ky.

Captain Goodhart served overseas for two years, and lately has been with the 5th Armored Force. He has been on duty in England, North Africa, and Italy. In 1941 he was stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash., with the 752nd Tank Battalion.

While attending the University, he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Pi Delta Epsilon, and Scabbard and Blade. Captain Goodhart was married to Mary Keller, '36, in 1937, and they have two children.

Grads Meet In Cleveland

More than 35 graduates and faculty members of the University of Maryland attended a luncheon at the Statler Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio, in April. The luncheon was held in conjunction with the American Chemical Society meeting. Students of Dr. Walter Hartung of the Pharmacy School presented him with a watch in appreciation of his interest in them.

The following alumni were among those attending the luncheon:

Thomas Mears '39, National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C.; Mildred W. Grafflin, M.S. '24, Hercules Powder Company, Wilmington, Del.; M. R. Hatfield, Ph.D. '35, National Carbon Company, Cleveland, Ohio; S. M. Kline, Ph.D. '34, National Bureau of Standards; S. C. Shrader, Ph.D. '35, Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Michigan; George L. Kalonsek, Ph.D. '41, National Bureau of Standards.

John K. Wolfe, Ph.D. '39, Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D. C.; Samuel McFarlane, Celanese Corporation of America, Cumberland, Md.; Richard Tollefson, Ph.D. '43, Air Reduction Company, Stamford, Conn.; W. P. Campbell, Hercules Powder Company; Gunter Zweig, '44, Washington, D. C.; Samuel Goldhagen, '44, College Park; N. C. Thornton, '27, Boyce Thompson Company, Yonkers, N. Y.; and C. E. White, '23, University of Maryland faculty.

Campbell Saved By Old Classmate

After drifting for three days on a life-raft in the Southwest Pacific, where his plane had been downed by enemy fire, Lieut. Bruce S. Campbell Jr., Maryland student in 1939-40, was rescued — by a fellow Marylander with whom he had attended school, Lieut. James Sweeney, USN, of Baltimore.

Lieutenant Sweeney's orders were merely to "rescue a flyer who has been downed." When the flyer was sighted and the rescue made the two men learned that they had been classmates at McDonogh School. They had not met since leaving Baltimore.

Lieutenant Campbell suffered no serious ill effects from his experience aboard the raft. He has served in the Southwest Pacific with the Army Air Force since February, 1943.

He has two brothers overseas, one of whom was recently returned to active duty after being wounded.

MISS ALMA PREINKERT

Miss Alma Preinkert, '23, University of Maryland registrar, has been elected corresponding secretary of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs. The election was held in April at a meeting of representatives of women's organizations, in Baltimore. Miss Preinkert will serve a three-year term.

Tydings Renominated

U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings, '10 and '13, in the May primary decisively defeated four Democratic rivals in his race for a fourth consecutive term. The Havre de Grace veteran, now in his 17th year in the Senate, said he regarded his victory as "a good augury" for the November election.

Senator Tydings received a Doctor of Laws honorary degree from the University of Maryland in 1933.

McFerrin Home From Pacific

Soldiers in the Southwest Pacific have had their spirits boosted more by the Army's furlough rotation program than by any other event of the war, Major Sidney McFerrin, '36, said recently upon his return home after two years in the Pacific theater.

During his service in the Hawaiian Islands, Australia, and on an island off New Guinea, Major McFerrin said he had observed that virtually all the men think constantly of going home, and that long periods of inaction had intensified this desire.

After returning to his home in Baltimore, Major McFerrin spent most of his time getting acquainted with his son, Sidney, Jr., who was born three months after his father went overseas immediately after Pearl Harbor.

Major McFerrin was one of the first men in his infantry regiment to receive a 22-day rotation furlough. He said he drew his leave "out of a hat" when it was announced that only a few of those eligible would be permitted to journey back to the United States.

Following his furlough Major McFerrin was to be assigned to the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Langley is Missing

Tech. Sgt. Theodore C. Langley, '36, has been reported missing over Germany since April 11.

A radioman-gunner on a Flying Fortress, Sergeant Langley was stationed at an air base "somewhere in England." He had completed 19 missions and had been awarded the Air Medal and two Oak Leaf clusters.

Sergeant Langley was a native of Washington, D. C., and a graduate of Central High School.

John Keane Dies

John K. Keane, '35, University of Maryland student in 1928-29, died at the Prince Georges Hospital in Cheverly on April 30.

A resident of Prince Georges County since 1916, Mr. Keane is survived by his widow, a son, two brothers and two sisters, all of Riverdale. Mr. Keane represented several of Washington's unions.

Day Missing (Continued from page 3) of Cumberland Ave., Chevy Chase. He was 22 years old.

Enlisting in the Air Forces two years ago, he trained at Ellington and Big Spring Fields, Texas. Last November he was sent to England, and had completed 25 missions. His wife, the former Marian Stoddard, lives in Kensington, Md.
